

Keith was born on 19th September 1952 of South African Parents. He is married to Schane and has three sons. He and his family are resident in KwaZulu-Natal.

Keith matriculated at Damelin College in 1969 and has been educated at Damelin College, Stellenbosch Graduate School of Business, UCT Graduate School of Business, Heriot-Watt University, La Salle University and Century University in the USA.

Currently, Keith sits on the Board of numerous Companies. He is past President of the Information Technology Association of South Africa (ITA) and is currently Chairman of the E-Waste Association of South Africa (EWASA), which he founded in 2006. He has also chaired various REMCO Committees and Finance and Investment Committees. Keith has also served on the Board of the ISETT SETA for four years. He was also a member of the BUSA Transformation Committee.

In addition, Keith was also one of the Founder Members and Directors of Qhubeka, www.qhubeka.org. Qhubeka was started by Axiz in 2005 as a registered Section 21 not for gain organization to create a means of providing much needed socio-economic development (SED) support to SA's disadvantaged communities. Qhubeka's aim is to provide children in rural areas with reliable, affordable bicycles appropriate to conditions in their regions to enable them to get to schools faster with less effort and so be better able to absorb lessons that will ultimately help them progress in their quest for learning.

Keith was one the ICT Personalities of the year finalists in 2012 and was awarded the ICT Social Responsibility Award in 2012.

Keith drafted the first Industry Waste Management Plan (IWMP) in 2010 and submitted it to the DEA.

Keith is a sought-after public speaker and presents papers frequently, both locally as well as internationally on E-waste Management. He also launched the Africa WEEE Forum, www.wee-africa.com with the objective of establishing a uniform E-waste standard throughout Africa, like the WEEE Forum in Europe.

Keith enjoys cycling, swimming and Motorsport and is a qualified Diving Instructor.
